FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL. SATURDAY, November 3. There was the customary relative falling off of interest shown to-day in the dealings at the half session of the Stock Exchange. Doubtless because of the natural profit taking movement following upon the rise in prices of yesterday and the day before the stock market in general was a little beavy in the early transactions or previous to the publication of the weekly bank statement. After last week's exhibit of the power of the local banks to shift loans to the trust companies and out of town lenders shere was a general belief to-day that the bank return would not make as unfavorable a showing as might have been deduced from surface appearances. The rates for the use of call money on the days immedistely preeding the end of the week afford a surer forecast of the character of the bank statement than do statistics of the "known movement of money" or any other similar data. Call money rates were distinctly easier yesterday and the large banking houses admitted that there had been a further transference of loans by the banks to institutions here and in other places that are not bound by the requirements of the local Clearing House in the matter of reserve. The fact, therefore, as chronicled in the bank returns, that the loans of the institutions comprised in the Clearing House had decreased $9,500,000 took few people by surprise. The loss in cash sustained by the banks fulfilled previous indications in this regard, amounting to $7,300,000. The bank surplus was, therefore, reduced by $2,823,900, which was perhaps a little more than had been calculated upon, and served to bring the surplus down to $3,019,775, or about $700,000 more than the sum shown at this time a year ago. It was stated in various authoritative quarters to-day that the popular idea as to the recent return of stocks here for European account had been somewhat at fault. Many of the stocks sold in the recent liquidation in London would not, it was said, be shipped here in the ordinary course of business until after the conclusion of the London financial settlement, which did not occur until the latter part of last week, and it was indeed predicted that the great bulk of the securities recently sold in this way in London would not pass into the hands of owners on this side of the Atlantic for several days to come. If this proves to be the case the "taking up" of these securities by local banking houses has not yet influenced in any important degree the weekly showings of the banks at this centre. After the bank return was published the market generally hardened and nearly all the principal stocks closed at net advances. The Reading common shares were the feature of the market, declining in the fore part of the day well below yesterday's closing figure, but recovering all this loss in the last half hour of business. Only one or two of the active stocks to-day, however, made material net gains or losses and the only matter of news interest having an indirect market bearing was a published statement that the Pennsylvania Railroad Company was considering the idea of mak-500 Ont & Wes. 4534 4512 4534+ 18 ing an advance of 10 per cent. in the wages of its employes over its entire system nov receiving a monthly salary of less than $500 The truth appeared to be that action of this kind has not yet become an official finality, but that indications were that it or something like it was impending. A the Pennsylvania has just advanced its dividend rate so as to call for an additiona annual disbursement by it of over $3,000,000 some incredulity was naturally expressed as to the ground upon which the compan meditated an enlargement in the wager current estimates of the size of the company's payroll, mean an additional dis bursement of $7,000,000. The Pennsylvania would thus increase its yearly expenditures by $10,000,000, or $1,000,000 more than the ease in its net earnings for the year as indicated in its published reports of gross and net revenues since January 1. The explanation given was that the Pennsylvania has for a long time past been diverting earnings to improvements on a scale that

The more seasonable weather of the week has, according to the reports of the mercantile agencies, stimulated trade and commercial business generally; and the most critical observation of affairs at this time fails to discover anything other than a continual expansion of the country's prosperity. The price of cotton has fallen off somewhat recently owing to the prevalence of more favorable weather in the South and to the publication of various estimates, chiefly those of experts representing the interests here of foreign spinners, that the yearly cotton crop would be larger than was thought a few weeks ago. On the other hand, the weight of all domestic authority, including the testimony of persons who have been extremely correct in their views as to the outcome of the crop in years past, is to the effect that while the crop is in better promise at the moment than it was some time since, the indications are not such as point to a crop this season of more than 12,000,000 bales. At any rate, foreign houses have been large buyers of cotton here and the exports of the staple have decidedly increased. The week closes, of course, with an all but absolute dissipation of anxieties that have recently been felt in the financial district regarding the

THE GRAIN MARKETS.

The wheat speculation was a small affair, with corresponding fluctuations in prices.
At first a rise of &c. took place, owing mainly to continued light receipts at the Northwest, covering of shorts, light offerings and a certain amount of commission house buying. The Northwestern receipts were only 468 cars, against 600 last week and 623 last year, and the advices from the Northwest seemed to offer little encouragement of a larger movement in the near future. The world's shipments were estimated by Broomhall at only 11,200,000 bush., against 12,528,000 last week and 14,144,000 last year, and this comparatively small estimate was not without me effect.

Later on, however, scattered liquidation in a narrow market caused a setback and the market wound up at about where it stood at the close on Friday. The cash situation con-tinues strong, but the speculation is quiet, though the undertone of the market is un-doubtedly firm. Meantime leading interests in Wall Street as well as at the West are believed to be bullish on the situation, and the opinion of many is that if the movement continues at its present rate an advance in prices tinues at its present rate an advance in prices would not be surprising.

The foreign markets were irregular. Liverpool declined 1/20. early, but recovered it later. Berlin declined 1/2 to 1/2 mark. Budapest rose 2 kr. Paris was unchanged.

Corn was dull and featureless, though the tone was firm owing mainly to an absence of offerings and the smallness of stocks. Buying is discouraged, however, by the increasing country acceptances and the expectations of materially larger receipts shortly. The cash market at the West was 1/2 to 10, lower and dull.

Oats were more active at an advance. The market at the west was $\(\) to 10. lower and dull.

Oats were more active at an advance. The buying of May at the West was especially good and there was more or less commission house buying, while the offerings were light and shorts covered. The receipts remain light, while the shipping demand continues brisk, so that supplies are not accumulating. Wheat on the spot was quiet. Sales, 48,000 bush. No. 2 red December price; No. 1 northern Dauluth, 5\(\) cover December; No. 1 northern Manitoba, 87\(\) cover December; No. 1 northern Manitoba. 87\(\) cover. Sales, 500,000 bush. Prices as follows:

IRON AND STEEL.

Continuously Good Demands for Pig Iron -Strong Steel Markets-Coke Goes Higher. The high degree of activity which has dominated the domestic pig iron markets for all that relates to prompt metal was accelerated toward the close of the past week by the inrush of orders for spot Northern, West-ern and Southern Iron. At the week's end little domestic iron available for November shipments was in the market, and for December metal prices took a sudden upward movein domestic iron for shipments earlier than January, and are filling in so far as possible with sales of foreign pig iron, which is beginning to come in large tonnages. There are a dozen steamships on the Western ocean loaded in part with pig iron that will help out the acute famine that affects many foundries in the north Atlantic States. Conditions warrant the opinion that is expressed by most founders that prime foundry iron will be dear throughout next year. For a long time consumption has been ahead of production in domestic iron. As the steel makers view the outlook for basic and bessemer iron consumption is gaining upon pro-

Scotch foundry pig, dockside, is fetching $23 to $24. Steel making irons at valley furnaces are $21@$22 for bessemer and $210 Bar iron is strong on the basis of 1.70 mill.

Shipments are prompt and stocks are ample for all requirements. Old materials, in sympathy with the strong tone of the iron and steel markets, are active and prices are strong with tendencies toward higher figures. The pressure for old iron is enormous, and railroad scrap is in larger demand than supply. Stove plate in a large storage place on the Passaic meadows for which $11 was the market price a few weeks ago was sold yesterday at $14, f. o.b. Railroad wrought is at $21% $21.50. Coke for the early wants of founders is firming up. Best brands of foundry for prompt shipment are at $4 to $4.50. Prime furnace coke from Northern ovens is at $3 to $3.25. Southern coke is at $2.90 to $3.15 for furnace and $3.85 to $4.25 for best foundry grades. Intense activity characterizes the domestic steel markets. Business in lines that serve railroad interests is at high record figures. and the numerous demands for structural steel indicate that the mills will be taxed to the utmost in 1907. The few steel working plants that are not busy are in that condition only because of inability to obtain adequate supples of crude or semi-finished steel. Ther have been no changes in steel wares since the official advances made a few days ago.
